My degree has focused on ensemble work in physical and avant-garde European theatre. During my training I have specialised in voice exploration for my practical dissertation, and puppetry both in England and Prague, and co-founded a puppet theatre company called Smoking Apples. I approach work with enthusiasm and dedication, always looking for new and innovative ways to explore ideas for stage. Instrumental and vocal music has always been an important part of my life explored alongside my studies and theatre practice. With some experience in film, voice work for radio and a continued love of theatre: I am looking to apply my knowledge to a variety of performance styles. I hope to bring my skills to the work and would also be looking to learn and develop myself from every project or production.
